What Defensive driving can do for your agency? Insurance Automobile Premium – potential savings if Driver Safety Program is utilized by Agencies. BRIM's Jeremy Wolfe's Risk and Insurance Manager, states, "Should your organization participate in these training modules with each of its drivers and submit evidence of driver training to our agency during the submission of the organization's annual Loss Control Questionnaire which is due August 1st each year – the participation will be evaluated for insurance credits within the organization's automobile premium."

Driver behavior can significantly impact an organization in a variety of ways. Employee safety is directly impacted as motor vehicle crashes are the #1 cause of occupational fatalities in North America. Motor vehicle crashes cost employers more than $61 billion annually. According to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA), crashes cost employers more than $16,000 per crash if there are no injuries, $74,000 if there are injuries, and $500,000 or more if there are fatalities. Considering about 15% of a typical fleet's vehicles are in a crash every year, the total economic burden to an organization can be very significant. Driver behavior also impacts vehicle operating costs such as fuel and maintenance. In fact, driver behavior alone can affect fuel economy by 20% or more. Finally, driver behavior impacts an organization's reputation in the communities they serve.

The Fleet Management Division has contracted with ARI to help agencies improve driver behavior through their comprehensive Driver Excellence program.
